Case Summary

This proposal is to make official the name O'Haniel Creek, which the proponent reports has been in local use since the 1970s. The stream is a 1.43-mile-long tributary of Redwood Creek in Humboldt County. The name commemorates O'Haniel Bailey (ca.1862-1912), a member of the Whilkut tribe, who lived and worked in the area. The application states, "He owned land a little bit downstream from the mouth of this creek and his wife and two children were allotted land in the unnamed/O'Haniel Creek watershed and on the adjacent ridge." General Land Office records list two claims made by Bailey, in 1890 and 1891, each for 160 acres and both at the mouth of the creek.

The application further states, "This creek requires a name because it is not an insignificantly sized creek and we often need to refer to it in planning documents and when communicating among local residents. Furthermore, the knowledge of the local name is at risk of being forgotten and lost as people pass away and as land tenure changes." Bailey's death notice noted, "Ohanial Bailey [was] a well-known Indian, held in high respect both by the Indians and whites. Not long ago the deceased published his valedictory in which he mentioned his principal life service, that of head of the sheep shearing crew of northern Humboldt, a position he held for many years He was counted one of the most expert shearers ever known in Humboldt. Mr. Bailey was of a kindly, quiet disposition and he will long be remembered by many friends he made in life."

A report published in 1974 and titled Historical Information on Redwood Creek (Van Kirk) referred to an interview that had been conducted with a local authority on fisheries restoration who "calls Negro Joe Creek, O'Haniel Creek"; Negro Joe Creek is not recorded in GNIS but the ridge to the south of the stream in question is named Negro Joe Ridge.

Domestic Geographic Name Proposal Form

The U.S. Board on Geographic Names (BGN) is responsible for standardizing the names of geographic features within the 50 States and in other areas under the sovereignty of the United States. The BGN retains the legal authority to promulgate all official names and locations of natural features (e.g. mountains, rivers, valleys), as well as canals, channels, reservoirs, and other select feature types.

This form is to propose a new name or name, spelling, or application change for a geographic feature for Federal use. A proponent should carefully review the proposal prior to submission to ensure that it is consistent with the BGN policies. Please note all fields with a red outline are required prior to submitting this form.

The proponent should also be aware that the entire proposal—including personal identifying information and any associated correspondence—is in the public domain and may be made publicly available at any time.

Name Details

Name information:

Please provide relevant information about the proposed name, such as origin, meaning, how long it has been in current use, as well as current or historical significance. Also include why you believe the feature requires a name or name change and why the proposed name is appropriate. Describe any documents that you will be submitting (separately by email) to support your proposal.

This unnamed watercourse has been referred to as O'Haniel Creek by the local rural residents since at least the 1970s. The proposed new commemorative name for an unnamed feature is a reference to O'Haniel Bailey, a Native American from the Whilkut tribe who lived and worked in the area until his death in 1912. This name is significant and appropriate because it refers to a Native American person who lived there historically. Many of the place names in the area reflect the history of white colonization and we (the local residents) would like this creek officially named after the Native American person who lived there so that their existence is not lost to history. This creek requires a name because it is not an insignificantly sized creek and we often need to refer to it in planning documents and when communicating among local residents. Furthermore, the knowledge of the local name is at risk of being forgotten and lost as people pass away and as land tenure changes. O'Haniel Bailey owned land a little bit downstream from the mouth of this creek and his wife and two children were allotted land within the unnamed O'Haniel Creek watershed and on the adjacent ridge (Mary Bailey, Ida Bailey, and Luther Bailey).

Regarding spelling, there are two other spellings in the record of O'Haniel Bailey – Ohaniel Bailey, and Mr. Ohania. By far, the most common spelling is O'Haniel Bailey.

I have consulted available geospatial resources including the National Map, GNIS, and historical topo maps and have found no evidence that this creek was ever mapped with a name.

See page 21 (21 Sept. 1912) Ohaniel Bailey a well-known Indian, held in high respect both by the Indians and whites, died Wednesday forenoon, after an illness of about a year with tuberculosis.

At his funeral and while lying at his home just before it, his Indian friends manifested great grief at his loss. Not long ago the deceased published his valedictory in which he mentioned his principal life service, that of head of the sheep shearing crew of northern Humboldt, a position he held for many years and until he was incapacitated by ill health about a year ago. He was counted one of the most expert shearers ever known in Humboldt. Mr. Bailey was of a kindly, quiet disposition and he will long be remembered by many friends he made in life. The funeral took place Thursday in Blue Lake cemetery. Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Luther, and a daughter, Ida Bailey.

Is the name commemorative? Does the name honor or refer to a person or persons? Y N

Please note that the BGN will only accept proposals for names that are intended to honor a person or persons deceased at least five years. The BGN will disapprove names that could be construed to honor living persons. The person being honored should have had either (1) some direct or long-term association with the feature, or (2) have made a significant contribution to the area, community, or State in which it is located; or (3) have outstanding national or international recognition. The BGN discourages the use of an individual's full name except to avoid ambiguity.

If yes, please provide the following:

Honoree's Date of Birth: Unknown

Honoree's Date of Death: Sept 21, 1912

Short biography and significance or association with the geographic feature: (list any additional honorees here)

The name is a reference to O'Haniel Bailey, who was a Native American from the Whilkut tribe. This name is significant and appropriate because it refers to a Native American person who lived and worked in the area until his death in 1912. He owned land a little bit downstream from the mouth of this creek and his wife and two children were allotted land in the unnamed/O'Haniel Creek watershed and on the adjacent ridge (Mary Bailey, Ida Bailey, and Luther Bailey). The following death announcement from an historic newspaper describes his history standing in the community "(21 Sept. 1912) Ohaniel Bailey a well-known Indian, held in high respect both by the Indians and whites, died Wednesday forenoon after an illness of about a year with tuberculosis. At his funeral and while lying at his home just before it, his Indian friends manifested great grief at his loss. Is the feature in a Wilderness Area or Wilderness Study Area? Y N Unknown

If yes, please provide your justification for making an exception to the Wilderness Policy:

Please note that the BGN will not approve new names for unnamed features within wilderness areas or wilderness study areas, unless an overriding need can be demonstrated by the proponent.
